

February 1, 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is my personal recommendation for Lexi Crivon with Coldwell Banker. Lexi has been my Real Estate agent on both my Condo purchase in 2004 and Condo sale in 2007. Both of these experiences were my first in the real estate market. It is with great pleasure that I describe my pleasure in working with Lexi.

Besides being a joy to work with, Lexi is a take-charge person who keeps an open mind for her clients, looking at many real estate opportunities, while maintaining a realistic and honest perspective on the needs and desires of her clients. I always felt confident in the advice Lexi would offer me on both my purchase and sale, pleased with her consistent and impressive diligence in taking me to real estate properties during the purchase and showing my Condo for sale, and her overall supportive nature in overcoming any small obstacles in both the purchase and sales transactions.

In addition to her professional qualities, Lexi also maintained a genuine friendliness in her work with me as a client, which made me feel more comfortable and trusting in our relationship.

I highly recommend Lexi for any real estate buyer or seller looking for a hard worker who is honest, friendly, and supportive.

Sincerely,

Courtney Hadden